Learning; Studies, Activities Keep CHSers Busy

Academics: books, lectures, films, tapes;
Participation: clubs, extracurricular activities, convos;
Athletics: improving skills, developing sportsmanship;
Spirit: backing the teams, yelling as one at pep rallies and games;
A parking lot jammed with cars and school buses;
Crowded halls with students rushing to get to class on time;
Lockers crammed with books and looking like libraries;
Sitting through class and watching the clock since there were no bells;
Finding that books were only a small part of learning;
Meeting new friends, talking, laughing, learning to get along;
Being part of the group, yet remaining an individual;
Yes, all this and more

AFS Exchange Students Come from Brazil and

Again this year CHS hosted American Field Service students. Frieda Alonso came from Santos, Brazil, to spend her senior year with senior Sharon Fleming and her family. From Haarlem, Holland Frances Gouda, our other foreign exchange student, stayed with Judge Maurice David and his family which includes CHS junior Cindy. Frances was elected secretary of girls' cheerblock, and Frieda worked on the Triangle staff.
Elaine VonFange went to Malacca, Malaysia during the summer AFS program.
Sponsored by the Indiana University Honors Language program, Becky Middendorf and Mike McCaulay traveled to Krefield, Germany, to study for the summer, while Penny Wheeler journeyed to San Luis Potosi, Mexico. During the summer, these three improved their skill with their respective foreign languages, German and Spanish, by speaking in the tongue of the country they were visiting.

Sophomore float

A football victory, floats and a swinging dance highlighted the 1967 Homecoming.
For the first time, each class designed and constructed their own float for the occasion.
The junior class float, depicting the football theme in tissue flowers, won the Persimmon Bucket,
given by Student Assembly.
The seniors made a psychedelic chess game played on a football field, and the sophomore class' float was entitled "Happy Hayride."
Following the Bull Dogs' 32-12 win over Shelbyville's Golden Bears, the Homecoming Happening began in the gym which was decorated with multicolored balloons and op-art murals.
Bizarre slides were flashed on a screen behind the combo, while the darkness of the gym was broken by exotic lights sweeping over the dancers, and the stillness of the air vibrated with the sound of soul.
Student Body President Bob Zerbe crowned junior JoAnn Roberts queen of the Happening during the intermission.
Her court included seniors
Vicki Martin and Patty O'Shaughnessey, junior Melita Foley and sophomores
Rae Ellen Hormon and Teresa Joseph.

Students Enjoy Special Seasonal Attractions:

Corn shocks, pumpkins and cold, crisp November air set the stage for the Hobo Dance.
Dancing to the music of "The Soul Calls" hobos and a few hippies dressed for the occasion in grubby clothes:
paint-splattered levis, cut-off sweatshirts, leather jackets and chains.
As the holiday season drifted in, Joe Tower, dramatics clubs coordinator, directed the production of "You Can't Take It With You."
The cast of the comedy consisted of theatrically-inclined CHSers.
Then at last it was Christmas-time.
Christmas trees on top the school, in the main hall and in several classrooms added to the holiday spirits of the student body.
Clubs made the decorations for the Christmas Dance with the theme of "Father Christmas."
A convo featuring the Debuteens and the basketball team was held before vacation.
And even Santa arrived to wish everyone a "Merry Christmas."

The French theme, being used for the third time,
provided a foreign flair
to the entire evening.
Couples whirled to romantic music in the dimly lit Parisian world.
Near the end of the dance, student committee chairman, Ann Ricke crowned Vicki Martin and Walter Bohall queen and king of the Prom.
Their court included

Casual Accents Highlight CHS' Fashion World

From head to foot, fashions this year were a mixture of a little bit of old and a lot of new.
Hair styles for girls ranged from the very long to the very, very short.
Boys, naturally, kept their hair as long as, if not longer than, previous years.
Two big hits for girls were head bands shaped like buckles and chain belts worn around the hips rather than around the waist.
Wide watch bands also made the scene.
Bright red, yellow, orange and green plaids, short and even mini kilts and textured stockings of all colors and designs made fashion news.
Shoe-wise, both guys and girls wore not just black and white saddle shoes but two-tone brown ones and even suede ones.
Tie-weejuns and other types of suedes were popular with girls, too.

Seniors Receive Diplomas, Leave High School

Lining up outside, seniors prepared themselves for their final activity as high school students.
Then to the solemn rhythm of "Pomp and Circumstance"
the graduates
filed into the gymnasium.
After twelve years of work and hope
Commencement had finally arrived.
To some
it was a blessing;
to others
it was a saddening loss.
To all, though,
it was an end and a beginning.
For the seniors it was the end of high school and the beginning of several things-- college, jobs, marriage or military service.
Each graduate
with a diploma, a tassel and a sense of accomplishment.

Administration Plans Building

Programming plans for a second high school in Columbus have kept the administrative staff occupied this year.

In preparing for the new high school to be opened in 1971, the administration has been gradually changing the regular curriculum system at CHS to one which will blend with the planned program of flexible scheduling for the new school.

Judson S. Erne, principal; Dr. Clarence Robbins, superintendent of the Bartholomew County Consolidated School Corporation; the seven-member school board; and the entire faculty have spent much time developing this new system.

Gaynor Petriquin, principal of John Marshall High School in Portland, Oregon, spoke to the entire faculty of CHS during September. His high school has operated under the flexible scheduling system successfully in the past five academic years.

School Board: Randall Tucker, William Casady, Mrs. William Everitt, Herbert Hoover, Perry Doup, Dr. Robbins, William Davis, Edwin Darlage.

During the day Dr. Robbins encounters various situations which require the books available in his reference library.

At the front desk in the general office, Mr. Erne looks through the mail which he has received about official school business.

Looking through a catalogue to find materials for the vocational arts department is Mr. Baker, department head and coordinator of the adult education night school program at CHS.

Coordinating the Guidance Department is one of the various duties which Leroy Nelson performs.

Assistants Help Design Policies

Even principals need help, and at CHS Melvin Harrison and C. G. Addleman have been busy as assistant principals.

Mr. Harrison planned convocations, organized the custodial staff, and took care of the other physical operations of the school.

In the preparation for a second high school in Columbus, curriculum changes at CHS have been made. Mr. Addleman has begun adjusting the curriculum so it will blend with the proposed curriculum for the new school. Mr. Addleman also worked with student teachers and substitute teachers.

Leroy Nelson headed the Guidance Department. Along with his seven-member staff he coordinated the counseling program at CHS.

William Baker served as director of vocational and industrial arts, and organized the adult education program.

Keeping the school running smoothly are vice-principals Mr. Addleman and Mr. Harrison who frequently meet to discuss the physical and curricular aspects of operating a school.

Helping sophomore girls at Columbus High School, Miss Marion Callon is always available to discuss problems which might arise.

Supervising junior and senior boys concerning appearance and behavior keeps dean Wilbur Albeitz busy every day of the school year.

Checking through the morning attendance list is one of the duties sophomore boys' dean Max Andress performs daily.

Deans Aid Students in Solving Their Problems

Responsible for maintaining all student discipline, with the aid of the teachers, were the four deans. Miss Josephine Armuth and Mr. Wilbur Albietz served the juniors and seniors, while Miss Marion Callon and Mr. Max Andress worked with the sophomores.

Counseling students with individual problems and keeping personal records occupied a major portion of the deans' time.

Issuing permits, working with the problem of attendance and managing all school dances were among the many duties for which the deans were responsible.

Issuing a tardy permit to Carol Guthrie and handling other problems pertaining to attendance are two of the jobs which fall under the jurisdiction of upperclass dean, Miss Josephine Armuth.

Two Counselors Added to Staff

Two new counselors, James Powell and Miss Kay Stephens, were added to the Guidance Department staff this year. With the two new counselors, the student-counselor ratio was 375-1.

Department head, Leroy Nelson, along with his seven-member counseling staff spent most of their time planning student programs. They administered achievement tests and college board exams. Counselors also sent transcripts and letters of recommendation to colleges for interested seniors. They also scheduled speakers from various colleges to come and talk to seniors.

Discussing the scheduled college board testing program, George Utterback, who is in charge of the testing, explains to Miss Mildred Maley the importance of these tests to the student planning to go to college.

Taking a breather from their busy schedules, Lou Giovanini, Duane Anthony, and John Hinds spend a few moments together talking over the week's schedule of visiting college representatives.

Discussing their new jobs at CHS are counselors James Powell and Miss Kay Stephens.

Non-teaching Employees Serve Pupils, Faculty

Behind the scenes in the cafeteria is the end of the conveyor belt where trays are deposited. Helen Romine, a cafeteria helper, empties trays and runs the automatic dishwasher.

Serving 2500 students proved to be an extensive job for the various non-teaching employees.

Keeping the school in order provided plenty of work for the custodial staff. Five teacher aides supervised in the larger study halls and helped teachers by grading papers and performing various odd jobs for students and faculty.

Keeping hearty appetites satisfied kept the cafeteria workers busy.

Nurses Mrs. Melvin Coleman and Mrs. Paul Riddle examined an average of sixty ailments daily, and they sent sick students home. They consulted parents concerning the students' health. The nurses also administrated eye tests, ear tests, and tuberculine tine tests.

General information about the school could be obtained from the office staff. Mrs. Bruce Norris was in charge of all IBM and data processing which included report cards, identification cards, attendance cards. She also handled mailing of poor work notices and other letters to parents.

Office Staff: Mrs. Fred Miles, Mrs. Burt Reed, Mrs. Marion Fox, Mrs. Morris Bray, Mrs. John Miller, Mrs. Lyle Christianson.

Showing speech "flashcards" to a pupil is Frank Lovejoy, speech and hearing therapist.

Checking students' eyes is a duty of the school nurses, Mrs. Coleman and Mrs. Riddle.

Teachers Aides: Mrs. Bessie Ellis, Mrs. Herbert Boeschen, Mrs. Perry Thompson, Mrs. Leonard Edwards, Mrs. John Holmes.

Sorting through a few of the many schedules which she is in charge of is Mrs. Bruce Norris.

English Emphasizes Grammar, Queries Literary Interpretations

"To be or not to be" was a question raised in Shakespeare's Hamlet. Films used by the English Department to supplement classroom texts and discussions brought out other questions such as, "What is man's relationship to the universe?", "Is man governed by fate, free will or chance?" These questions discussed in the films Our Town, Oedipus and The Pearl gave additional interpretations to the literary works.

Miss Jane Schaefer and Merrill Emerick experimented with team teaching and with using linguistics as a method of teaching grammar. In using linguistics, sentences were placed in one of five basic, or kernel, sentences. Within these sentences, the use of a word was found by looking at the position of it and the stress given to it.

Speech, dramatics and journalism were added to the English Department's curriculum as semester courses. They stressed basic principles in these fields through individual instruction.

Modern literature and world literature were offered to interested seniors. Special trips to see plays were taken by modern literature students to aid their studies.

Records, tapes, films and New Horizon Lectures on such topics as Huck Finn and the modern short story also supplemented classroom discussions.

During English class, Mr. Joseph Dutton formulates an answer to a question.

Library Gets New Director; Expands Facilities

Knowledge on subjects ranging from A to Z could be found in books, magazines, newspapers, encyclopedias and the information file located in the Luther A. Lockwood Library.

Under the supervision of Mr, Don Reed, the new director, and Mrs. Virginia Segebarth, several innovations came to the library. Books were rearranged and placed on shelves according to subject matter. A new system of checking-out books was initiated in which a student had only to sign his name instead of showing his identification card. "Pink permits" were also introduced to be used by students wishing to do research in the library durfng their study halls.

A new reserve book room was added this year along with a new magazine reading room. Books, placed on reserve by teachers, could be used during the day and checked-out only overnight. Along with the newspapers and periodicals in the magazine reading room were several machines designed to aid students with their studies.

Two audio-visual notebooks gave students a chance to practice foreign language drills outside of their regular class periods. Helping pupils improve their reading speed and comprehension were a Craig reader and an Antotutor. Tape recorders were also set up to help students practice their speeches and other oral reports.

Equipment Updates Language Department

French teacher Miss Brown stands beside a bulletin board decorated as a French flag. The friendly expression on it welcomes you by saying "Come in!" This is the class in which French is spoken."

Proving that learning a foreign language can be made interesting if the students do unusual things, Kathy Adams and Jim Hignite show off some authentic Ukrainian costumes.

"Onward ho" was the motto of this year's Language Department. By adding new study helps, it expanded so much that an office had to be provided to keep it moving at a lively pace.

The audio-visual-lingual system was stressed. To aid learning by this method, audio-notebooks were added to the other language-learning devices employed by the CHS Language Department. This new equipment was placed in the material center and during their study time, students were permitted to use the material center. This was done in order that they might listen to tapes containing the entire lesson they were studying. In this manner, the pupils could listen to natives speaking the language and, therefore, become accustomed to hearing the language spoken in the correct manner.

Transparencies, to be used on projectors, were of great assistance in the Language Department this year. They were used to illustrate maps of foreign countries and also to emphasize the spelling of certain words. These were gratefully used by teachers who found that they did not have to erase and rewrite the same material on the board for each of their classes.

With these modern study helps, how could the language pupils at CHS avoid learning well?

Business Students Learn Many Practical Skills

Business Education played an important role in preparing CHS pupils for the business world. To give the pupils practice in working in an actual office set-up, an Intensive Laboratory course was offered. In line with the Co-op program, which allows certain students to work in local firms as a part of their training, business pupils worked in school office positions.

An electrical shorthand laboratory was used and found to be effective in teaching shorthand. With these laboratory facilities, students taking shorthand were given the practical experience of listening to different types of dictation.

One piece of new equipment this year was the IBM typewriter. Characterizing this typewriter was the fact that it had no carriage. It had a small ball that could be removed for different kinds of type.

To aid teaching, the First National Bank of Columbus gave the department records and films concerning banks on the local and federal level.

The teaching of typing for speed and accuracy was made simpler through the use of the secretarial dictaphone. It allowed students to listen to dictations and to attempt to copy business letters with more skill and ease.

Striving to minimize his errors but to keep his speed at a maximum, Alan Scheidt finds that he does not always succeed.

With heads bent low over their notebooks and brains working to their fullest capacity, these five shorthand students strive to learn the correct method of taking rapid dictation.

Reading over the notes that she has taken and reviewing for her bookkeeping text, Sandy Mitchell prepares for a six-weeks test.

Taking a course in Advanced Algebra requires many hours of working complex problems as Joe Herkamp quickly discovers.

Mathematics Department Adds a Great Diversity of Courses

Making the headlines in the CHS Mathematics Department this year was the greater variety of subjects offered to a wider scope of its students. Sophomores who did well in first year Algebra found that they could sign up for a class in Geometry and a class in Advanced Algebra and Geometry. Doubling mathematics subjects in this manner allowed them to leave free spaces for more advanced math courses later on.

In this year's Mathematics Department, group-study teaching came into greater use. Group-study was a new method of teaching in which students formed small groups to study within the classroom. This was a step toward initiating flexible scheduling which will be used here next year.

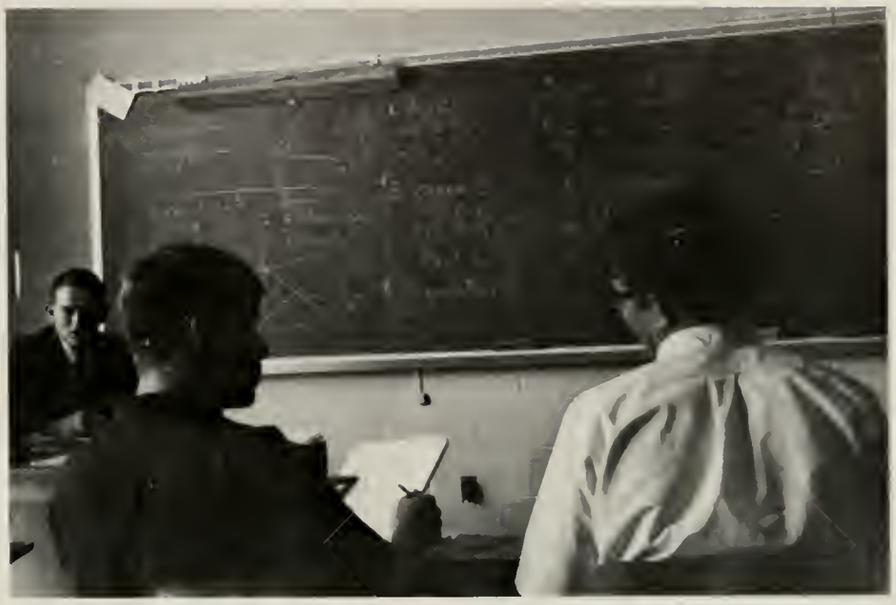

In group-study, students received a chance to help each other. Using this method, it was easier to take note of other students' problems and, therefore, correct their similar mistakes. Another aspect of this method was that since it put the student sufficiently at ease, he discussed his difficulty more readily.

Probability and Statistics was a new course offered to advanced mathematics students this year, along with Calculus and Analytic Geometry. These college-material courses provided a challenge to the more mathematically-minded students at CHS.

Science Area Utilizes Team Teaching Plan

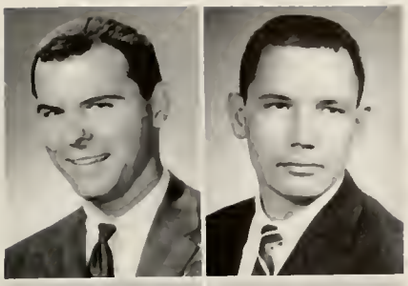

From the amoeba to the atom, from formaldehyde to hydrochloric acid; these terms were familiar to the forty-five per cent of the student body enrolled in science courses at CHS.

Regular, advanced and honors classes were offered to students in the areas of biology, chemistry, zoology and physiology.

Flexible, along with traditional instruction, was used in biology and chemistry. Under flexible teaching, two teachers teamed together for lectures and demonstrations in the lecture room. These lectures lasted half of the class period with students returning to their regular classrooms for discussions and lab experiments.

Besides the special lecture room, the Science Department's facilities include a green house, animal room, preparation room and supply room.

Specialists from colleges, universities and industries were invited throughout the year to give lectures under the New Horizons program.

Social Studies Teachers Try to Prepare Pupils for the World

New this year in the Social Studies Department was the team-teaching system for several of the U. S. History classes. This new system allowed two or three classes to meet together to hear lectures by one of these classes' teachers.

Various teachers used individual techniques to strike up a lively interest in study material.

Discussion among small groups of four or five students was one method employed by some of our social studies teachers.

A new course, "Family Living," was offered this year to instruct pupils on better home relations.

In keeping with the revised curriculum that was offered to pupils taking a social studies course was the new, experimental approach to American Government. Approximately 150 students took this course which stressed the process of governing instead of government as a whole.

Encouraging work on such projects as posters, cartoons, or authentic period costumes, teachers required their students to use many skills. Besides projects making the students' work more interesting, they provided students with the opportunity to apply their knowledge of social studies to things other than written work.

Students Exhibit Original Expression in Work

Having completely covered her sheet with crayon and then putting India ink on it, Glena Owens begins to scratch out a design.

To his modernistic concept of a building done on a scratch drawing of finger paints and ink, Jim Tracy adds the finishing touches.

Art classes explored several media this year. Some of the different phases included in the department were pencil work, ink sketches, water colors, melted crayon projects and tempra and pastel paintings.

"Modern" described the theme stressed again this year. Students, with this in mind, worked in the abstract and in learning to express themselves with color contrasts, balance and other basic art techniques.

Beginning art pupils learned many general concepts of the subject, while the more advanced students were encouraged to specialize in one area. Some worked with clay, creating statues, pottery and other sculpture; other students experimented with ink and paint combinations.

Special art projects occupied much of the artists' extra time. Activities began with decorating for Homecoming and ended with designing and making elaborate trimmings for the Prom. Students also worked on the ninth annual Sensational Sixties.

Band Buys Versatile Uniforms; Choirs Perform for Community

Divided into five groups, the Choral Department consisted of the mixed chorus, concert choir, girls chorus, sophomore chorus and Debuteens. All participated in various activities sponsored by the Choral Department.

Events began with the chorus providing the entertainment when CHS hosted Dean Rusk. The annual Christmas-song festival and spring concert occupied the remainder of the time until the closing production "South Pacific."

Two band groups, the symphonic and concert bands, joined together to form the Big Blue Band, which along with the majorettes, entertained at all major sports events this year. Performing at basketball and football games provided the band a chance to display their new uniforms which were purchased by the Redmond Fund.

After spending a week at band camp, the members of the band traveled to Indianapolis for the annual State Fair Band Contest where they placed eleventh.

Band members also provided musical accompaniment for Sensational Sixties, the choral production and the annual Christmas program.

During their "spare" time, band members sold fruitcakes and a chili supper. Proceeds from these went to busy instruments, uniforms and music.

Semester Classes Accentuate Good Fitness, Promote Safety

Individual rather than team skills received strong emphasis in physical education this year. The girls worked for mastery in such sports as golf, tennis, bowling, badminton, gymnastics and creative dance. Team and individual sports like flag football, tennis, basketball and gymnastics helped fill the time for the boys' physical education classes.

Health and Safety classes stressed the importance of clean habits in everyday living. Major social problems and diseases, as well as sex education, occupied students' discussions. By relating health rules to life-like situations students could see health's practical, daily applications.

New text books and revised methods of classroom instruction greeted driver education students this year. For the first time driving instructors experimented with team teaching. Also new for the students were simulators—mechanical devises which presented students with emergency as well as practical driving situations. Use of the simulator and the actual in-car practice emphasized driving defensively and driving safely.

Counting in unison as they work, girls in physical education classes practice many body building and coordination exercises each day before they begin their regular day's activities.

Industrial Training, Home Ec. Prepare Students for Careers

Boys invaded the Home Economics Department this year. For the first time, two classes of cooking were offered each semester for boys. Learning about nutrition as well as the basics of preparation, the boys highlighted their class by preparing a complete Thanksgiving dinner for part of the faculty.

To continue their development of homemaking skills, girls took the offered courses of sewing, foods, home furnishings, child care and furniture refinishing.

Shop classes helped train boys for vocations after leaving high school. The classes stressed the importance of safety around machinery.

Printing the Triangle proved to be a basic part of the print shop's job. Machine shops dealt mostly with the reparation of automobile parts, particularly the engines. Other shop areas included drafting, electronics, metalworking and wood-working.

Distributive Education classes trained students in advertising and marketing. By the use of the project method—evaluating a student to see which occupation best fits him—students were placed in jobs. During the morning they attended school as usual, and during the afternoon they received actual on-the-job training by working in a local store. In this way, students earned spending money.

STUDENT COUNCIL—Randy Smith, Rick Mann, Ann Ricke, secretary; Valfrieda Alonso, Bob Zerbe, president; Mike Hall, Tory Casady, vice president; Rob Nau, sergeant-at-arms; Debbie Allen, treasurer; Randy Nentrup, Laura Starks, Larry Hilderbrand.

Taking advantage of the Suggestion Box, Vivian Baldwin and Sandy Walker write remarks that will be reviewed and discussed by the Student Council and by the Student Assembly.

Student Assembly Helps Pupils, Administration

Fostering interest and participation in school activities, student government provided a link between pupils and administrators.

Each homeroom elected one person to the Student Assembly which functioned as the legislative body. The Student Council performed executive duties.

Student Council officers were elected by the student body in the spring of 1967. Additional members were chosen by the Student Assembly, and the principal appointed two others. Also serving on the council were the two foreign exchange students.

Services rendered to CHS by these groups were many and varied. Floats were introduced by the Student Assembly as part of Homecoming festivities. A Pep Committee and the Kennel Club planned activities to boost school spirit, while music was restored to the cafeteria during lunch periods. Cleaning up the parking lot and meeting with the cafeteria staff helped to improve conditions of both. Assembly members organized the traditional Sadie Hawkins Dance and the Spaghetti Splash.

Projects also stressed better communication between the students and their government as well as between the school officials and the student government. Worthwhile comments from the Suggestion Box were reviewed by the Student Assembly in alternate meetings.

Assembly representatives read mimeographed summaries of the meetings to their homerooms. For the first time, the Student Assembly took stands on issues pertinent to CHS and relayed its opinion on them to the administration for further consideration.

Making up an important part of student government, Student Assembly representatives meet once every two weeks.

Honoraries Recognize Student Achievements

Based on participation and accomplishment in the field of dramatics, the National Thespian Society provided recognition to those who made significant contributions to the dramatic arts at CHS.

Members of this honorary earned 10 National Thespian points, an equivalent to 100 hours of work. This credit was obtained by directing, acting and other activities involved in drama.

New members were initiated in the spring under the supervision of sponsor Joe Tower.

Also an honorary, Quill and Scroll cited CHS journalists for outstanding work. Membership was limited to juniors and seniors on the Log and Triangle staffs who were recommended by the publications director.

Eligible students were also required to rank in the upper third of their class or have a B grade average for the last semester of school. Miss Evelyn Seward sponsored the organization.

Planning and carrying out the fall leadership conference was one project the Activities Committee sponsored. It aided the various clubs with their problems and helped plan their programs. The group was also responsible for approving all money-making plans within the school as well as scheduling club sales and outings.

PHC, an honorary named in memory of Pat Hansen, was open to any girl who accumulated 30 points in intramural competition.

Members of PHC organized all of the girls' intramural sports. Duties performed included refereeing, taking attendance, and managing equipment.

After a two-week sales campaign, Log staff members sold more yearbooks than ever before at CHS—a total of 2,004. Color pictures and an additional sixteen pages highlighted the yearbook, and as an extra bonus, the price was reduced to $4.00.

Robert Bonshire, the new publications advisor, met throughout the year with editors and staffs to discuss plans for layouts, pictures and copy.

Even before the school year began, Log staff members prepared for their coming responsibilities. Attending the Indiana University Journalism Institute were Co-editor Marilyn Stanley, Copy Editor Nancy Lane and Business Manager Nancy Sublette. Co-editor, Peg Heagy, attended the year before.

Amid the clutter and activity in the PUB-lications office, Log staff members constantly faced the wrath of "Grendel," the green journalism witch, when deadlines were not met. They also faced a continual rush to schedule pictures to be taken and retaken, to fit headlines and to write copy.

Consequently, holidays and after-school hours turned into work sessions. But the parties after deadlines were met and the results of the sales campaign made it seem almost like fun.

Besides lengthening the page and improving the grade of the paper used, the staff also utilized two types of printing, letterpress and offset, courtesy of CHS print shop.

For the second year, the advertising staff published a Christmas Shopper. "Chompin' the Bones," a new column, was added to the sports section of the paper.

Several members of the Triangle staff were responsible for writing "CHS Notes," a column about the high school in The Republic, the local paper.

During the summer, Warren Baumgart and business manager Kris Behrman attended the journalism institute at Indiana University in Bloomington.

Community Concerts Head Choral Schedule

A combination of talent, initiative and hard work went into the makeup of the five choirs. Formed by the Girls' Choir, the Mixed Choir, the Debuteens, the Concert Choir and the Melodettes, the Choral Department was under the direction of Jerald Robertson.

Having spent many hours in preparation, the Girls' Choir, the Melodettes and the Mixed Choir presented the fall spring concerts and participated in the traditional community Christmas sing.

Taking part in many shows for service clubs, the Concert Choir also sang at the Circle in Indianapolis and appeared on television in December. Members prepared a program for Secretary of State Dean Rusk when he visited Columbus in the fall.

Providing entertainment for convocations and different organizations, the Debuteens performed in a show for the parents at the annual fall Open House.

"South Pacific" was given this year by the Choral Department as the mass-participation musical it stages each year. In February, the choirs sold candy to raise money.

New Uniforms, Eleventh Ranks Highlight Big Blue Activities

A hard week of band practice at Youth Camp helped the Columbus Big Blue Band gain eleventh place at the Indiana State Fair Band Day contest. The contest also marked the first appearance of the band's new uniforms.

Performances by the Symphonic Band for Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson and for Secretary of State Dean Rusk highlighted the band's year.

Composed of the Symphonic and Concert bands, the marching band provided music for all the home football and basketball games. They also presented several concerts during the year and played for the Sensational Sixties production in the spring.

This year the Band Parents Association again sponsored two chili suppers and an ice cream social. To earn money the band members sold fruit cakes during the Christmas season.

Directed by Mr. Elwyn Brown the band practiced every day after school in the fall. John Baldridge led the Big Blue Band as Senior Drum Major, and Peter Linn was chosen Junior Drum Major.

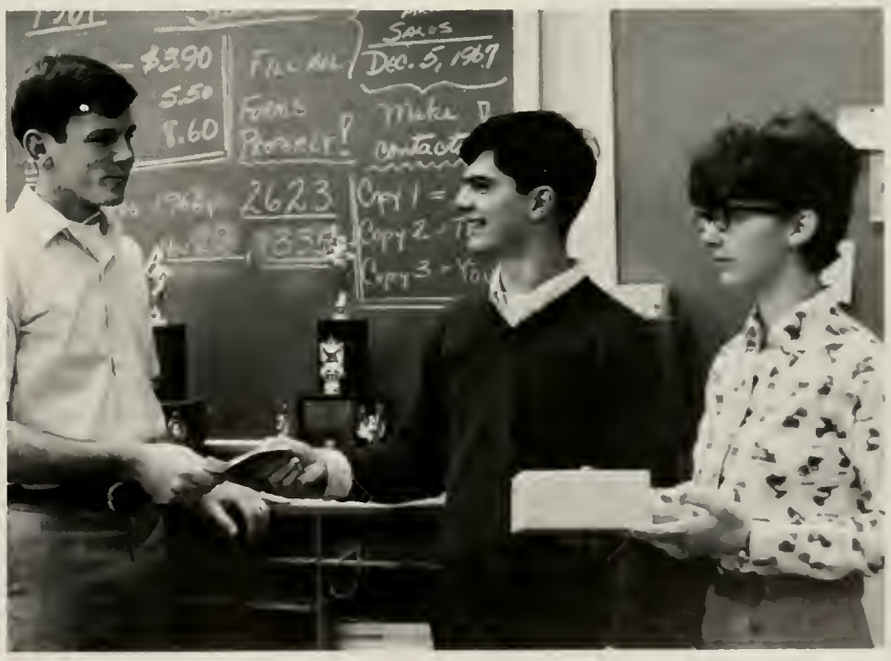

Elected officers for the 1967-68 year were Steve McQuinn, executive; Jane Taylor, personnel; Bill Browne, library; Pat Ryan, security; Randy Shanks, uniform supply; and Claudia Browning, instrumental supply.

Language Clubs Find Lures, Excitement of Distant Lands

Enthusiasm, participation and activity were the key words for the language clubs this year.

Becoming acquainted with the culture, country and customs of Germany was the German Club's primary goal. Club activities included a German dinner. To finance the year's activities, club members manned the gas pumps for a gas sale. Membership was limited to German students.

Furthering the interest in the Spanish and Latin American cultures was the purpose of the Spanish club.

The program was highlighted by a Spanish pitch-in dinner. Proving themselves to be good salesmen as well as good cooks, club members held a successful candy sale in the spring.

Small in number but enthusiastic, the French Club had a full schedule of activities. Besides buying a map of France for the school and providing a Thanksgiving basket for a needy family, they also held a bake sale and candy sale. In the midst of all the activity, members still managed to find time to enjoy a winter outing.

Displaying souvenirs of her trip to Germany, Becky Middendorf talks to her German Club.

Foreign Relations Clubs Host 10 Area AFSers

Talking with Frances Gouda and Frieda Alonso about their native countries, Gary Gonzenbach and Anne Ricke spend a few minutes before club to learn more about CHS AFS students.

Meeting the need for better understanding in the world today, the Junior Council of World Affairs and the International Relations Club encouraged an active interest in world affairs and foreign countries, the organizations' primary goals.

Highlighting the activities of the Junior Council were speakers from Germany, Korea and Japan. The Junior Council was limited to sophomore membership.

As a first for Indiana, the International Relations Club hosted a meeting of all American Field Service students from central Indiana. The club cooperated closely with the local AFS chapter for the program.

In addition to the regional program, the club assisted the local AFS students. This help was financed by the club's annual Slave Sale in which members of the club worked for people in the community to earn money for the club's activities.

The amount of interest shown in International Relations Club limited membership to juniors and seniors.

Tri-Hi-Y Members Send Gifts, Seasonal Greetings to Vietnam

Striving to "maintain high standards of Christian character throughout the home, school and community," the eight Tri-Hi-Y chapters kept busy with various activities. A formal initiation at the First Christian Church welcomed new members into the club last fall, and individual chapter outings allowed old members to initiate the new members informally.

This year the Tri-Hi-Y club added to its list a new project, sending packages to Columbus boys stationed overseas in Vietnam and elsewhere. Many chapters gave Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets to needy families, and each donated $10 or more to world service.

Faculty members greatly appreciated Coffee Club, a weekly project of the combined Tri-Hi-Y chapters.

"Summer Days, Summer Nights," the annual Tri-Hi-Y style show served as one means of raising money for the clubs. A local firm provided the fashions which Tri-Hi-Y members modeled.

Several clubs pacified the after-school hunger pangs of students by holding bake sales in the halls and exits after school. On weekends, girls occupied themselves with door-to-door candy sales as well as with bake sales.

Money from the projects provided funds for outings, for Senior dinners and for the $200 scholarship awarded annually to an outstanding senior Tri-Hi-Y girl planning to attend college.

Tourneys Debates Show Clubs' Competition

Because interest was so great this year in Forensic Club two chapters were added. The Forensic Club was sponsored by Miss Judith Bosse, David Glenn and Richard Fleck.

Forensic clubs were formed for the purpose of furthering speech activities in high schools throughout the nation. This year members of the club participated in speech and debate tournaments over the state.

To earn money for club activities, the Forensic Club sponsored a coat check at all of the home basketball games. The club members also held a dance in January for all the students at the high school.

To teach students to think clearly and logically and to use good sportsmanship was the purpose of the Chess Club. Matches were held at each club meeting to help members improve skill at chess.

A Chess Club tournament was held within each club during the second semester. The winners of the individual clubs then played each other to determine a new school champion.

Developing his skill as a speaker, Dave Lucas gives a speech to Forensic Club members.

Pondering his next move, Larry Ruble watches fellow Chess Club members John Goss as they compete in an intra-club tournament while sponsor James Kelly observes the game.

Helping a fan, Mike Hogg and Nan Macy collect money for the club treasury.

Picking and singing, Rachel Lawson and Jennifer Nelson perform for drama members.

Mr. Scrooge treats Tiny Tim to a holiday dinner in a Dramatics Club presentation of Dickens' "A Christmas Carol" seen by other clubs in the Mildred Murray Drama Room during club period.

Dramatists Present Plays, Accentuate Talents

Drama Club members, Jim Snyder and Dayla East, read for the play "The Lottery."

Columbus High School clubs furthered dramatic arts in school and gave students the opportunity for self-expression.

Each of the five chapters at CHS helped in the production of "You Can't Take It With You" presented in December. Dramatics D club performed "A Christmas Carol" before the holiday vacation.

To improve their acting ability, members played charades and had dramatic readings and impromptu speeches. Acting out fairy tales was one way of self-improvement. Stage make-up was also discussed during meetings.

After the end of the first semester, the different chapters worked on one-act plays which were presented during club periods.

Members found the Mildred Murray Drama Room helpful in presenting plays. The room, named in honor of a former CHS drama teacher, is equipped with stage and seats.

Dramatics Club sponsors for this year were Mrs. Stella Rotramel, Mrs. Jack Lloyd, Joe Tower, Merrill Emerick and Donald Smith.

Sunshine Chapters Sponsor District Convention

Delivering presents to the County Home was just one of the activities that members of Sunshine C, Micki Shafer, Jackie Eddleman, Jami Snider and Diana Schafer performed for the community.

Fulfilling their purpose of "helpfulness and kindness to others," the members of the chapters of Sunshine Society spent the past school year serving school, community, and state.

Sunshine Society is a state-wide organization, and this year the Columbus chapters hosted the District Convention. The clubs also donated to a state Sunshine Society scholarship fund and gave to the Riley Hospital Fund.

Visiting the County Home monthly and providing a Christmas party there, as well as at the Children's Home, kept the club members hustling. Some of the girls worked as nurses' aides at the hospital. Various chapters assembled and distributed Thanksgiving and Easter baskets for families of the community.

During the year each of the chapters planned its own money-making projects—selling candles, perfume and candy.

Obviously delighted, Sharon Fleetwood opens her present during a Sunshine Christmas party held during the last club period before Christmas vacation.

New initiates, Sharon Fleetwood and Linda Whitehead, light their candles from one representing the ideals of Sunshine Society.

During Christmas, Debbie Ahlbrand prepares the basket to be taken to a needy family in the community as a Y-Teen C project.

Helping to host the Y-Teens formal initiation, Becky Martin serves punch to Y-Teen members, Betty Gates and Nancy Jones.

Y-Teens Display Willingness to Serve Columbus, School

To grow in friendship with people of all races, religions and nationalities, the members of the Y-Teens Clubs strove to increase their knowledge and love of God as they developed as persons.

Keeping stride with their role as a service club, they presented baskets of food at Christmas and Thanksgiving to families in the community.

Y-Teens also served school as well as community. At Christmas members of each chapter decorated the tree in the main hall. In a combined effort of all the chapters, Y-Teens sponsored a dance between Sectional games.

Money from the dance financed a $300 scholarship which was given to a senior Y-Teen entering a career of service. Separately, some chapters held candy sales and tidbit sales that proved to be successful.

Y-Teens Council, the governing body for the combined chapters, made decisions concerning the Y-Teens as a whole. The Council is made up of a delegate, the president and the sponsor of each club.

Photography Club members Betty Jones and Connie Durnal study and criticize the composition and quality of their own photographs as well as those of fellow club members.

Sizing lumber, Industrial Arts Club member Ric Loper works on the crosscut saw.

Clubs Teach Skills, Develop Individual Talents

By joining the Industrial Arts Club, students gained a better understanding of the vocational arts and of the shops at CHS.

During the club period, members toured the various shops, and films were shown to supplement the tours. Under the supervision of sponsors Paul Riddle and Meredith Thompson, the boys learned to use and take care of different machinery in the shops.

Photography Club members gained practical experience by working in the dark room, printing and developing pictures. Sponsors Duane Anthony and Don Andrews lectured on the concepts of photography as well as having the members criticize their own work.

Club members Pat Jones and Debbie Barton entered their camera work in the Scholastic Art Awards Contest, while the Photography Club held its own contest in the spring that could be entered by all club members.

Perplexing Problems Examined by Science, Conservation Clubs

Creating more cover for wild life and planting trees to stop erosion were some of the projects the Conservation Club undertook this year.

To learn the conservation of natural resources such as water, forests and wild life was the purpose of the club. Chapters B, C and D waged a contest to see which one could bring in the most animal pests.

Exposing students to all areas of science, the Science Club members and sponsors also helped decide which projects from Columbus would go to the regional Science Fair.

Student projects were encouraged. Results of these experiments were presented during club period. Teachers as well as representatives from industry explained different fields of science and described opportunities open in those areas.

Field trips were provided to all interested Science Club members.

FTA, FBLA — Gaining Goals Through Clubs

Students found that teaching is a hard but rewarding profession through Future Teachers of America. Miss Evelyn Seward, sponsor of the High school Donald DuShane chapter of FTA, helped members discover the field of teaching.

This year the FTA was host for the Area 6 Conference. It was held on November eleventh with more than 240 FTA members from the southeast part of the state attending. The conference consisted of a general meeting and tours of CHS and of the new Lincoln elementary school.

A group of Job Corpsmen from Camp Atterbury presented a program for club members in the fall.

Developing competent, aggressive business leadership was the purpose of the Future Business Leaders Club.

To earn money, club members sold candy. The FBLA held a spring outing and a senior dinner in honor of the graduating seniors.

Future Outlook of FHA, FFA: Domestic, Farming Careers

Promoting a growing appreciation of the joys and satisfactions of homemaking, the Future Homemakers of America gave members a chance to work for good home and family life. FHA was sponsored by Miss Doris Meyer.

This year a Thanksgiving basket was prepared for a local family. For another project FHA members made toys before Christmas time.

An initiation and installation meeting were held in the fall and a holiday party in December.

Future Farmers of America met each club meeting to discuss good agricultural leadership. FFA clubs developed character, trained for useful citizenship and fostered patriotism. The club was sponsored by Wanye Coy and Glenn Diel.

A highlight of the FFA year was the Green Hand degree presentation here in Columbus. The award was given to new club members who had been helpful to the success of the club's year.

To honor senior FFA members a Parent-Student banquet was held in the cafeteria.

DE Club, Sing Out America Seek Experience, Enjoyment

To develop leadership and to promote competition was the purpose of DECA. As a major project, members arranged for the students of CHS to sign up for Social Security cards.

In the spring, DECA participated in a contest which was held on local, regional and state levels. Contestants competed in areas of advertising, sales demonstration, public speaking and window display.

Club members sold 2,400 calendar towels with the proceeds going into the club scholarship fund. This fund helped further members' education.

Membership in Sing Out America was available to those who enjoy singing. A student song leader directed the others in patriotic, folk and similar pleasure songs; while Jerald Robertson accompanied them on the piano. This was the second year of the club, which was patterned after the national Sing Out America organization.

Making plugs, EGATS members familiarize themselves with electrical processes to help with their job of assisting with sound and lighting effects in the school theatrical and musical productions.

Providing concessions at school sports events, the Concessions Club members were kept busy selling cokes, popcorn, peanuts and dill pickles at refreshment stands. Profits bought athletic equipment, supplies and other school necessities.

Different service pins were awarded club members according to the number of hours they worked. In the spring the club went on a trip to Coney Island in Cincinnati.

Aiding the Visual Education Department, the Projectionist Club members delivered and operated projection equipment during club period.

The EGATS were responsible for the lighting and electrical work of any school-sponsored dance or show. Their biggest job was preparing and executing the lighting as well as moving props for the Sensational Sixties. They also arranged lights for the Christmas Dance held in the cafeteria.

For a Hi-Y event, Evan Jones, Steve Rohfling, Chuck Luse and Todd Keithley play ball.

Local Hi-Y Boys Participate in State Convention Bloomington

Two Hi-Y chapters, affiliated with the YMCA, maintained membership open to boys of all grades. The club's intention was to create and purport the "high standards of Christian character."

Programs were held during club period to help further this idea. Several speakers related information on various topics. A member of the Atterbury Job Corps spoke and answered questions at one meeting. Films were also shown.

Selling the clear plastic Log covers in the spring was the main money-making project. Earnings from this project financed the fall and spring outings that the chapters held at the Youth Camp.

Members of the Hi-Y chapters bought and gathered materials for Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets which they then delivered to needy families.

To highlight the year, there was a Hi-Y meeting at Indiana University in January. Chapters from all over the state were represented there.

Similar to previous years, boys in Hi-Y clubs sell plastic Log covers to the student body. Senior Chuck Luse demonstrates the cover to Ron Behrman, a fellow Hi-Y member.

Athletic Groups Urge Fitness, Promote Good Sportsmanship

With the purpose of promoting physical fitness through gymnastics, the Gymnastics Club was open to all boys. Members watched gymnastics exhibitions and then tried out their own skills in such activities. Sponsor John Hinds also showed films of the 1964 Olympics, which he attended.

Learning the rules and mechanics of officiating were the goals of the Officials Club. Football and basketball regulations were emphasized, though other sports were also covered.

One boy assigned the other club members to serve as referees at the elementary school and junior high sports events and the senior high boys' intramurals.

Interest in all aquatics activities kept members of the Aquatics Club busy learning about lifesaving, synchronized swimming and competitive swimming.

Talks and films during club period instructed club members on subjects pertinent to aquatics. Members served as timers at the varsity swim meets.

Boosting the Bull Dogs on to victory, the CHS boys' and girls' cheerblock increased this year to almost 500 members, the largest group ever.

Reorganized under the direction of Charles Richardson, the cheerblocks practiced together in the gym during homeroom periods every other Wednesday morning to learn new yells, to drill old ones and to arouse school spirit.

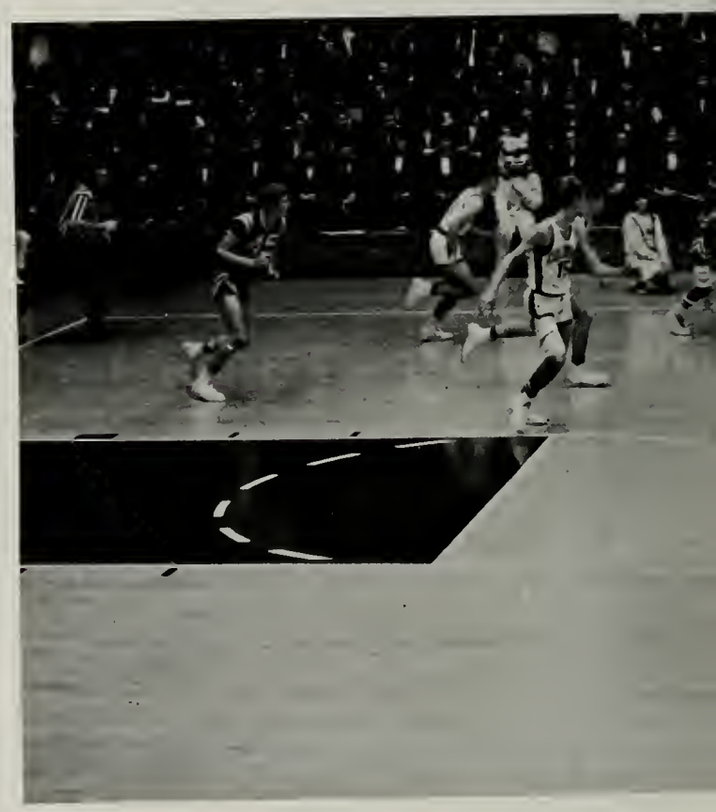

The girls' cheerblock used reversible blue and white capes this year while the boys' cheerblock wore light blue shirts and blue jeans. Canes in blue and white, used by the senior boys when forming tunnels for the Bull Dogs to go through at basketball games, also distinguished the boys' cheerblock.

Chosen in the spring of 1967, varsity cheerleaders directed the cheerblock and other fans in yells at football and basketball games at home and away. This fall eight reserve cheerleaders were also chosen to boost the Pups.

Assisting the cheerleaders, Jerry Dell led Bull Dog fans in "Co-lu-mb-us," and a senior boy donned the Bull Dog suit to act as mascot of the team.

Even though the winning is

Bull Dogs Finish Schedule with 5-3-1 Record; CHS Plays Tough Competition, Places Second

The Dogs finished the year with a 5-3-1 mark, although they played one of their toughest schedules.

Starting the season the Bull Dogs played in the jamboree at Seymour and defeated the Bloomington Panthers. It was determined in that game that senior Bob Schaeffer would be quarterback for the 1967 season.

In their first season game, the Dogs made the long trip upstate to East Chicago Washington. Although the Dogs were overpowered in the first half, they showed pride by coming back in the second half and outscoring the Senators, but still losing 26-14.

In the second contest the team battled the 1967-68 football state champions, Indianapolis Washington, to a 6-6 deadlock.

In their South Central Conference opener, Columbus chalked up a 40-0 win over Greensburg.

In their next conference tilt the Jeffersonville Red Devils handed the team a heartbreaking 21-20 loss on a last minute, fourth down pass play.

Bouncing back in the next game, both the offense and defense improved as the Dogs beat arch rival Shelbyville 32-12.

The Franklin Grizzly Cubs fell to the Bull Dogs the next week by a 34-7 score. Following a hard-fought 31-7 Bull Dog victory over Seymour, fourth ranked Bloomington suffered a 20-7 defeat at the hands of the fired-up Dogs. At this game Schaeffer made the longest run of the season by galloping 99 yards for a touchdown. The victory insured Columbus a second place finish in the conference and dropped the Panthers into 5th place.

In the final game the eighth ranked Bull Dogs traveled south to play ninth rated New Albany. The Bull Dogs were surprised by a 28-0 New Albany victory, which knocked CHS out of the top ten in both polls.

Lineman Jim Kistler puts a tremendous rush on Indianapolis Washington's quarterback.

Team Members Post Impressive Statistics; Bull

Quarterback Bob Schaeffer, linemen Jim Kistler and Mike Cota and back Lynn Tuttle were all named to the All-South Central Conference squad. Back Dave Hill and lineman Daryl Stanfield were given honorable mention by the loop's coaches.

Schaeffer and Tuttle combined for over seventy-five percent of the Dogs' offensive movements. Schaeffer, the team's most valuable player, was also the leading ground gainer and scorer for the Dogs; he compiled a total of 1,435 yards and eleven touchdowns. Tuttle was the second leading scorer with nine touchdowns. Linemen Cota and Kistler combined to lead the team in tackles. Cota, playing both offense and defense, also punted, kicked-off and kicked the point after attempts.

Mike Cota was named to the Associated Press' All-State football team for his dazzling performance at end. Cota and lineman Stanfield were named to the first and second squad, respectively, of the United Press International's All-State football team. Bob Schaeffer received honorable mention from the pollsters.

Needing help from Ron Dinn, Tom Chelton succeeds in surrounding a Greensburg runner.

Watching from the sidelines, Willie Bohall studies the offense while waiting to play.

During the Shelbyville football game, as quarterback Bob Schaeffer plunges across the goal line, team members and the referee signal another Bull Dog touchdown.

Pups Record Winning Season with One Loss

Making a second effort, Terry Schmidt plunges forward for a little more yardage.

Opening the season with a bang, the Bull Pups defeated the Bloomington reserves who had not been defeated in 33 games. The team went on to win their next three games. Coach Dennis Sylvester's team suffered its only loss to a tough Shelbyville team, but the Bull Pups gained their revenge in the final game of the season when they replayed the Golden Bears; they defeated them 20-13. The Pups closed another successful year with a record of 6-1.

The offensive and defensive units performed well throughout the season. The passing of quarterback Dave Andress set up many Bull Pup touchdowns, while the ground attack was led by Steve Gonzenbach, Terry Schmidt and Doug Doty.

The defensive and offensive lines were small compared to past years, but the boys' eagerness to win combatted this handicap. Only 39 points were scored against the defensive team, while the offensive team scored 197 points against their opponents. The boys' eagerness for hard work in practice proved to pay off for them in a victorious season.

Harrier Coach Murray: 'Team Goal Achieved'

CHS' cross country team had a perfect record of 6-0 in dual meets this year, behind the guidance of first-year coach Wallace Murray. According to Coach Murray, the team succeeded in reaching its goal of being a state finalist.

During the season the harriers participated in four invitationals and picked up a first in one of them, a second and a fourth in others and a sixth in their own. In conference play they finished second to Bloomington, but they defeated the Panthers in a dual meet 26-29. The Canines placed second in sectional and regional competition and ended the year in Indianapolis by taking twelfth place in the state meet.

Although the cross country team's 6-0 record came through a team effort, two men in particular led the squad to many of its wins. They were senior Steve Evans and junior Don Moir. Moir earned recognition as the team's most valuable runner, and another senior, Randy Likens, was named honorary captain by his fellow harriers.

Heading for another first, Don Moir drives past his opponent toward the finish line.

Dogs Take Conference Title; Set Records in 18-2 Season

Outstanding team and individual efforts were the trademarks of this year's edition of the Columbus Bull Dogs. The high scoring Canines broke the century mark five times. The 123 points in the season's opener broke the old standard of 117 set by the undefeated state-finalists of 1964. Offensively the Dogs averaged 94.05 points per game while holding their opposition to a 64.35 average.

This year's Bull Dogs also produced many individual highlights. Among them was the 50-point performance by Tom Arnholt against Anderson eclipsing the 46-point effort by Tony Lanham against Franklin in an early SCC clash. Arnholt was the leading scorer with a 25.6 average, best in the SCC. Rebounding leaders were Steve Welmer and Mike Vincent, respectively. Arnholt's sharp passing made him number one in the assist department. The Canines were deadly shooters with Vincent leading the team from the field with 55% accuracy. Lanham and Welmer were right behind him with 54% and 52%, respectively. Arnholt and Vincent were also named to the all-SCC team.

The Dogs won the SCC this year with a 9-0 record. Columbus has won the SCC nine times including one tie since 1936. The Bull Dogs have captured the crown four of the last six years. The Canines were 12-0 after the Holiday Tourney, in which Lanham was chosen as the MVP. They were recognized state-wide for five weeks by being ranked first in the polls. The team finished the season ranked third.

The only losses Columbus suffered were after the holiday break, and both were at the hands of Marion County teams, Washington and Southport.

Going up for a basket, Tom Arnholt slips by on the fast break while Joe Brooks trails.

With Mike Vincent and Steve Welmer ready to rebound, Tony Lanham puts in a bucket against Franklin.

In the record-breaking season's opener, Mike Vincent pulls in an offensive rebound as the Bull Dogs raced to an 80-point victory margin over the Univees of University High School.

Despite being surrounded by three determined Bull Dog players, Shelbyville forward Tim Ash manages to pull down a rebound. The Dogs triumphed over the Golden Bears, SCC rivals, by the score of 84-81.

Calmly concentrating on the basket, Kirk Detty shoots a free-one against Franklin's Grizzlies.

VARSITY BASKETBALL—Standing: Randy Allman, Joe Brooks, Loran Roberts, Tony Lanham, Mike Vincent, Steve Wemer, Mike Cota, Mebert Good, Randy Lykins, Tom Arnholt, Kirk Detty. Kneeling: Dave Battleson, Lynn Montgomery, Mick Peters.

Shortridge Blue Devils Dash Championship Hopes

Although not playing up to capacity because of the absence of Steve Welmer, who sustained a sprained ankle in the first round of competition, the Dogs fairly breezed through the sectional. They topped Sandcreek 82-43, Edinburg 86-54 and Brown County 102-74 for the crown.

The return of Welmer provided the spark the Canines needed to overcome a third period Shelbyville lead in the final game of the regional. Welmer combined with Tom Arnholt for a 55-point total as the Dogs squeaked by the Golden Bears 83-80. In the afternoon round the CHS whipped Franklin 87-80, sparked by Arnholt's 25-point performance.

The Dogs looked strong in the first period of semi-state action against Shortridge as they led 18-11 at the first stop. However, the strong rebounding and hot shooting of the Devils proved too much as Shortridge won 88-77. Welmer and Kirt Detty paced the Blue and White with 13 points each. Four other were in double figures. Mike Vincent had 18 rebounds.

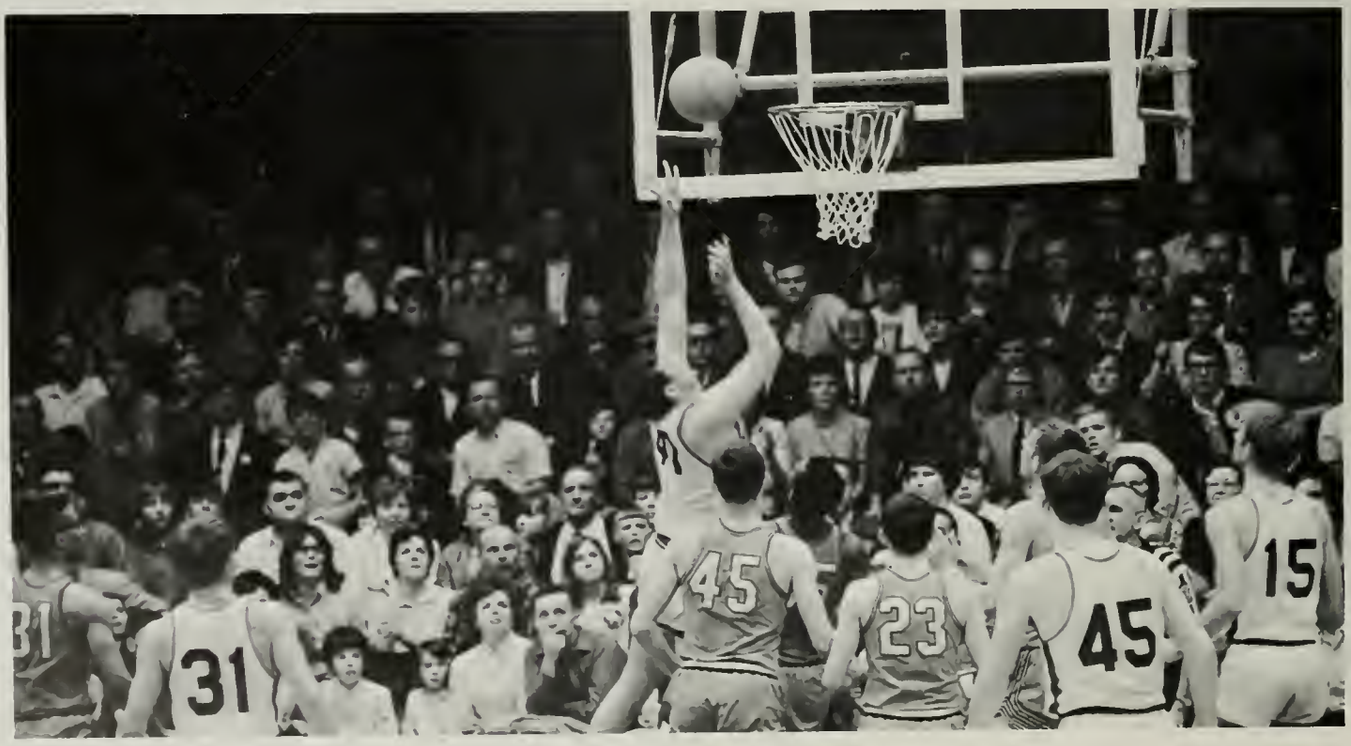

Mobbed by his joyous team, Coach Bill Stearman grins proudly after winning the regional.

Reaping the victory spoils, Steve Welmer cuts a strand of the net after the regional finals.

Aiding the Dogs in their 83-80 win over the Golden Bears in the regional, injured Steve Welmer poured in 14 points into the basket during the fourth quarter to break a Shelby lead.

Going to the boards with the ball in semi-final play at Hinkle Field House, the Bull Dogs worked their patterns to get open shots. Kirk Detty and Mike Vincent shoot from the right side; while on the left, Steve Welmer and Mike Cota supply the offensive threat as the Blue and White battle Shortridge.

Exhibiting classic form, Tom Arnholt drives for a lay-up against Oscar Evans of Shortridge.

Juniors Spark Reserve Squad to 14-5 Finish

Sparked by the talents of his high-scoring juniors, Coach Lou Giovanini's Pups started the season in unbeatable style. Kevin Budd and John Collyer scored 312 of the team's points and led the scoring roster. Mark Pratt paced the team in percentages with an accurate .505 from the field, and Collyer's .773 free throw shooting pierced the charity stripe.

After nine straight wins the squad was turned back by Indianapolis Washington. Continuing their winning style, the Pups ended their schedule with 15 wins and only 4 losses.

Combining their efforts as a team, the Pups averaged 55.2 points a game and limited their foes to an average of 43. The team ended the season with a .411 field goal average and capitalized on 279 of 453 free throw attempts for a .616 per cent, and they boasted an all time reserve game high of 89 points against Jeffersonville.

Guard Lance Cline smothers his man as he applies a man-to-man press during the fourth quarter.

Wrestlers Capture First Regional Mat Title

With twelve returning lettermen, the varsity wrestling team had the experience needed to become a state power. Coach Dennis Sylvester and assistant John Stafford drilled the matmen on perfecting techniques and building stamina.

Results were seen when Columbus out-margined seven teams in its invitational and then went on to place second in the SCC. Earlier in the season Bloomington defeated the Dogs, but in the sectional. Columbus advanced six men to regional competition compared to Bloomington's five. The following week the grapplers won CHS's first regional title, placing Bill Lacefield, (24-2) 133 pound class, and Daryl Stanfield, (19-4-3) heavyweight, in the finals.

Lacefield and Stanfield finished second and fourth, respectively, in the state. Their efforts aided the team in achieving its 8-4 record.

Columbus' Bull Frogs didn't win the state title but had a successful season by winning 10 of 11 dual meets with the only loss to eventual state champs South Bend Adams.

The bright spot in the season was the 200-yard medley relay team of Kevin Hill, Mark Baker, Bob Knox and Kent Fischvogt which won its event in the state meet with a time of 1:44.9. The only record to fall during the year was in the 400-yard freestyle relay. The 3:32.1 clocking by Mike Page, Jim Voelz, Fischvogt and Mike Rager eclipsed the 1966 mark.

As a team, Columbus finished third in the state with 34 points to first place Adam's 52. Kokomo captured second place. The 400-yard freestyle relay team placed third, while Rager had a sixth place in the 200-yard freestyle, and Knox placed third in the 100-yard butterfly. Freshman Hill garnered a fourth in the 100-yard backstroke, and Baker finished third in the 100-yard breaststroke.

Two divers Mike Sullivan and Terry Blair, first and second in the sectional, finished ninth and fourteenth respectively, in the finals.

Thirteen wins and no losses marked the gymnastic team as state championship material. The Dogs posted an average winning margin of 40 points per meet and captured first, second and third in every event for a perfect meet against Pike. Another big win came after defeating Concord for the first time.

In the sectional the Dogs scored 190 to second place North Central's 96. They took first in all but the side horse event where Ric Flohr, the team's top side horse man didn't hit his routine well enough to qualify for the state. Dave Seal remained unbeaten on the rings as he, Dave Carter and Bill Zeigler placed 1, 2, 3. Carter took three firsts, and Gary Sublette took two.

Gymnasts Win State Crown

For the second year Coach John Hinds' gymnasts won the state. CHS overpowered second place Concord in the last three events by gaining 69 points to Concord's 26 to win 126 to 83.

Dave Carter paced the squad with three firsts: parallel bars, high bar and All-around. Besides placing third on parallel bars and fifth in All-around, Dave Seal captured first on the rings. Carter took second on the rings with Bill Zeigler third, only one point behind him. Kevin Herr, trampolinist, supplied the other CHS first.

Gary Sublette, Nick Woolls and Doug Doty placed in the top ten in tumbling and free exercise; side horse, high bar and All-around; and trampoline.

While performing a scissors transition move, Ric Flohr concentrates on form and height.

To complete a strength requirement on the parallel bars, Dave Carter presses a hand stand.

The 1967-68 school year was a rebuilding one for Coach Robert Chappell's tennis team. With the graduation of three lettermen in 1967, only one letterman, Dave Ketchum, returned.

The fall season showed a record of three wins and four losses in dual meets. Columbus netters placed third in the eight team sectional tourney and finished fifth in the ten team South Central Conference tournament.

With no regulars scheduled to graduate during the next two years, the current crop of netmen are expected to give a good account of themselves in the future.

Mike Hull was awarded his first letter and Dave Ketchum received another half-letter to bring his total letters to one and a half after two years.

Golfers Capture Fifth Straight SCC Crown

As Mike Scott gives advice, Steve Miller prepares to putt. Other linksters looking on are Mark Gammell, Mark Roth, Tom Hanou and John Hanou.

Columbus golfers, coached by Jim Mara, finished the year with a record of no losses, making them a two-year undefeated team. In addition, the linksters won their fifth consecutive South Central Conference golf crown, an honor never attained by any other SCC team.

In the title meet played at Otter Creek, a local course, the Bull Dog linksmen scored 331 points to runner-up Bloomington's 344 and Franklin's 353. The other teams in scoring order were Connersville, Shelbyville, Jeffersonville, Greensburg, Martinsville and Rushville.

Senior medalist Mark Gammell posted the squad's most consistent score of 77. Junior John Hanou received fifth row medalist honors with an 83.

Half-letter winners were Mark Gammell, Mike Scott and Mark Roth, seniors; John Hanou and Steve Miller, juniors; and Tom Hanou, a sophomore.

Trackmen Send Two to State; Set All Time School Records

Skimming the highs, junior Loran Roberts leads the field in 120-yard event.

Track Coach Charles Spurgeon in his second year boosted the efforts of individual stars Fred Eddy, state high jumper, and all-round performer Stan Spurgeon. Eddy easily won the South Central Conference sectional and regional blue ribbons, but was unable to place in the state meet. While Spurgeon during the season competed in the 100- and 200-yard dashes and anchored the 880 yard relay team, he qualified for the state in his specialty, the low hurdles. In the 2 mile event Steve Evans recorded a 10:30.7, breaking the previous tally by 6 seconds. Spurgeon's 14.8 in the high hurdles along with his 19.7 in the lows established the other two records.

Balancing the team, Don Moir, one of the top milers in Southern Indiana, placed first in the sectional, and Walter Bohall showed surprising strength in the pole vault.

Regular season play of the Columbus Bull Dogs saw the baseball team scrambling to an 11-11 record. By the start of the first IHSAA baseball tournament, the Dogs began to settle down and play good ball. They swept through the sectional with a three game winning streak. The Canine's momentum carried them into the regional where they crushed Milroy 13-1 and edged Batesville 2-1 to advance to the semi-state at Franklin. Behind the pitching of southpaw Steve Sorgius, the Bull Dogs defeated Knightstown 2-0.

In the final game of the semi-state, the Canines' hopes were shattered on a pop fly double which lead to a 2-1 defeat after ten innings.

The Dogs' accomplishments were made with only three seniors on the entire squad. Hitting was one of the baseball team's strong points, and Bob Schaeffer headed the Dogs with a .329 batting average. 1967's Most Valuable Player, Lynn Tuttle, lead in the power department with home runs.

Girls' Intramurals Create New Interest With Two New Sports

Girls' intramurals, meeting each Monday night, provided fun and competition in a variety of sports for all interested girls. Approximately twenty-five to thirty-five girls attended each session.

A very successful change this year was replacing swimming with soccer and junior and senior gymnastics. Basketball, volleyball, and softball, as well, were included in the program. Basketball was supervised by Ann Ricke and Marilyn Stanley. Candy Carpenter oversaw volleyball. A CHS girls' volleyball team was planned to replace the basketball team of the previous year.

Ribbons were awarded to first, second and third in competition in basketball and volleyball. Points were given to individuals for each session attended. Junior and senior girls who received at least thirty points during the year were eligible for membership in the Pat Hansen Club. The members of this club, with the aid of sponsor Miss Marilyn Metz, planned the intramural program.

Moving quickly, Sharon O'Haver bats an uncontrolled volleyball over the net.

In the semi-final round of boys' intramurals, Marshall Denny of the Boilermakers drives for the basket. The Road Runners handed the 'Makers its first loss of the year and moved to the final game.

Rogues Capture Basketball Title On 45-38 Win

Intramural basketball season meant action for 31 teams made up of approximately 260 CHS boys. Regular season play wound up with two undefeated teams, the Hondels of the "B" League and the Boilermakers of the "C" League.

However, tourney action found the once-defeated Rogues and Road Runners of the "A" League battling for the championship. Paced by Dave Hill's 16 points and Steve Evans' 10 markers, the Rogues won the crown 45-38. The Road Runners were led by Ed Shroyer's 12-point performance and Charlie Burris' 8 points.

Squads with winning season records comprised the 16-team paring. Tom Hession and Charles Spurgeon directed intramural action.

Holding up one finger to signify being the first place tournament team in boys' intramural basketball are Rogues Bill Clark, Dave Hill, Steve Evans, Bill Bohn, and Terry Taylor. These seniors dethroned the defending champion Road Runners in the final clash of the four-round tournament.

Seniors '68 mix eye-popping, traffic-stopping Elected to lead the Class of 1968 were Gary Gonzenbach, vice-president; Helene Keach, treasurer; Cindy Lucas, secretary; Walter Bohall, president.

By the fall of 1967, Seniors had gained the long-awaited rights of guarding the Senior Circle, occupying front row seats in cheerblock and selecting a man from their ranks to be student body president. With these new rights came the responsibilities of maintaining school spirit and giving dependable leadership from the offices and positions they held.

Many seniors resolved to make up for missed opportunities to distinguish themselves. They found the chances to do just that in Thespian Society, Quill and Scroll, Honor Society and sports.

Traditional duties were taking SAT's, pounding out term papers and bearing the tension of class rank and college acceptance. More pleasant aspects included ordering announcements, sporting Senior keys and being measured for caps and gowns. The final moment of success was the receiving of diplomas at Commencement on June 4, 1968. This event marked the end of a year of following the tradition of being a SENIOR CLASS, yet making history so that their class, the Class of '68, would be remembered, both by them and others.

Senior sponsors Joe Giovanini, Miss Elsie Butler, Walter Sheets, Glenn Adams and Duane Anthony offer assistance and direction in planning class activities, especially graduation.

No longer youngest class, but still not the top

Leading the class of 1969 were Janell Phillips, president; Pam Behrman, secretary; and Judy Ferry, treasurer.

1967-68 was more than an in-between year for the juniors at CHS. Having gotten use to the long cafeteria lines, the crowded halls and the rush to get to class on time, the juniors found new things to do during their second year in high school.

Posters, tags and lots of campaigning took place before the juniors voted for class officers. They elected Janell Phillips, president; Pam Behrman, secretary; and Judy Ferry, treasurer. These officers helped coordinate the Prom, along with other activities.

Students had the opportunity to take several tests which included the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test and the Scholastic Aptitude Test, which was offered to juniors in the spring who were interested in applying early for college admissions. All of the class took the tuberculine tine test in the fall.

Receiving class rings and participating in the Tug-O-War were other junior firsts. The biggest event of the year, however, came in the spring—the Prom. Following weeks of enthusiastic planning by student committees, worrying about getting a date and choosing that extra special gown, the spectacular evening finally arrived, bringing with it the close of the year and the anticipation of the next one—the one when they would be seniors.

Faculty members who sponsored the juniors are seated Miss Doris Meyers and Miss Jane Schaefer; standing Carl McCan, Miss June Uphaus and Mrs. Judith Eaton. They directed the class in all its activities.

Sophs find interest in new and varied activities

Leading the sophomore class are sponsors Miss Judith Bosse, Mrs. Freda Yeager, Sam Simpson and Don Reed, all willing to help any sophomore in need of advice.

Sophomore Orientation Day, August 29, 1967, marked the beginning of the first year at Columbus High School for 950 sophomores. Former students from Central and Northside Junior High Schools, once bitter opponents, were united as members of one school and as friends.

As the class became involved in the activities around CHS, they took part in athletic events, intramurals, clubs, dances and cheerblock. Those among the Student Assembly shared the fun of working on the sophomore Homecoming float.

New and varied opportunities such as the dramatics presentation, "You Can't Take It With You," and the ever-popular Sensational Sixties gave the sophomores a chance to display their talents.

During the year, sophomores discovered ID cards, the Suggestion Box, IBM report cards, the election of class officers and also the privilege of having individual counselors.

Although they suffered the usual hardships of being lost and late, one sophomore summarized the feelings of the class when he said, "This first year at CHS has really been great!"

The Graduation Gift That Nobody Ever Gets...

It's tops on the most-wanted list of every graduate, but no one ever gets it . . . not the rich . . . not the smart . . . not the swinging . . . not the cool.

That's because it can't be bought anywhere in your town or anywhere in the world for that matter. It has to come from inside you. It has to be earned the hard way, without help from your parents, your teachers, or your friends.

It's the ability to know what to do after the prom is over and the cap and gown have gone back to the rental service. It's the ability to make a decision about the army, or college, or a company that's going to help you amount to something.

Nobody ever said that knowing what to do is the simplest thing in the world. Nobody ever will. But they will tell you that the best choice is seldom the easiest one. They'll tell you that the right decision is often the one that takes careful planning, thinking and plain old guts when you get down to making it.

We hope that at this time you give your plans for the future at least the same amount of time you give to thoughts of the past. And if it's a career you decide upon, one that will give you a chance to prove your worth to yourself and a company, we hope you consider Reliance.

You see, we have confidence in you and your town. That's why we're here. Think it over, and let us know if we can help you pick out that decisive gift . . . from yourself.

CHARGE! 3:35 is CHS "witching hour," when all students jump eagerly, ready to race from the parking lot at the high speed of 5 m.p.h.

The year ended without one wrathful visit from Grendal—the "Late-Deadline Witch."
By March 20 our new printer, Taylor Publishing Company, had received our new Log complete with 16 extra pages and color pictures.
Somehow all the work was finished thanks to some diligent staff members and our great new advisor, Robert Bonshire.
Special thanks go to the Parkers and the Republic for their picture service and to Jack Bundy for producing a cover we love!
Thanks again for a great year and lots of fun . . . .

Marilyn, Peg, Nancy
